

FOR THE OLD TICKET.

REACHED SARATOGA.

SENATOR WARNER MILLER VOICES THE
MENT OF RURAL REPUBLICANS ON THE SUNDAY LOCAL OPTION—A CONFERENCE OF LEADERS DECIDES TO IG.

NORE THE QUESTION.
[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]
Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 15.—There was an unusual coldness in the air of Saratoga to-day, but within doors most of the delegates to the Republican State Convention who have today arrived here. Steam was turned on in most of the hotels, and coal fires were lighted in the parlors occupied by the leading politicians. Comfort was thus obtained, and the delegates had an opportunity of debating the question of renominating the present Republican State officers and the way of dealing with the Sunday liquor problem. Louis F. Peck assumed the day in endeavoring to convince low-delegates that renominations ought to be used to Controller Roberts, Attorney-General Hancock and State Treasurer Colvin. Peck was aided in this effort to smash "the ticket" by William Barnes, Jr., of Albany. Barnes was confident that at least 150 delegates were pledged to oppose the renominations of Messrs. Roberts, Hancock and Colvin. Barnes made that the delegates from the counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Columbia, Putnam and Schoharie would unanimously oppose the nomi-

re of the State officers named. No reason was given for this opposition, which was not to have the sympathy of the delegates from northern New-York under the lead of Hendrick. To all appearances the only cause of opposition was the disappointment of the Platt Republicans over failure to secure appointments to office. Messrs. Payn and Barker do not acknowledge that Thomas C. Platt was yet supporting their scheme, and it was their opinion, it was plain, that Mr. Platt did not think it courage to take a stand against the renunciation of Messrs. Roberts, Hancock and Colver, never much he might sympathize with the work of the opposition, but Mr. Payn and Barker hoped that by Tuesday they could draw such support for their movement that Mr. Platt would acquiesce in it.

CANDIDATES OF PAYN AND BARNES.
The candidates of those opposing the renomination of "the old ticket" of 1893 in its entirety are: F. Parkhurst, of Bath, for Controller; J.
W. Wever, of Plattsburg, for State Treasurer,
and H. Rider Cady, of Hudson, for Attorney-General.
Parkhurst and Mr. Cady are both here, and both deny that they are candidates, but it understood that they would accept the nomination for Controller and for Attorney-General, and that they should be conferred upon them. Mr. P. P. T. Barnes, with their following elsewhere in the State, will attempt to-morrow, as fast as the delegates arrive, to array them in opposition to Messrs. Roberts, Hancock and Colvin. This opposition of Mr. Parn and Mr. Barnmen to the Republican State officials named has amounted to nothing. They have made no progress in their campaign; since it is the evident belief of the majority of the delegates to the convention that that every one of the Republican States has made such a good record as to be entitled to a renomination, and that in consequence the party should renominate them. It is highly doubtful even if Mr. Platt, by the exercise of his influence, could defeat them. I will watch with curiosity the result of Mr. Tyn's and Mr. Barnes's work to-morrow, when 50 per cent of the delegates will arrive here.

TO DELUDE GOVERNOR MORTON.

publicans for President. A plank was inserted in the platform of the convention, holding Mr. Morton for his administration of the State's affairs, expressing the hope that he would receive "higher honors" from the Representatives of the Nation, and declaring that he is the choice of the New-York Republicans for President.

It is expected now that the convention will adjourn on Tuesday night. A special train will start from Albany that night, bearing southward. Governor, Mrs. Morton and the legislative committee appointed to be present at the opening of the Chickamauga National Park and Atlanta Exposition. Ahead of Mr. Morton will travel the news of the action of the New-York Republican State Convention in his favor, and therefore his friends hope that his Southern journey will afford him a chance to gain some hold on the minds of the people of the South. He is a candidate for President upon the Southern Republican vote.

The chief subject of debate among the delegates here to-day has been the Sunday option question. A dozen planks for the platform dealing with this subject, have been in circulation among the delegates. The rural Republicans have unanimously opposed to the adoption of the Sunday option plank. Most of them also urged the adoption of a plank declaring that all laws shall be enforced. This is an indirect approval of the attitude of the Board of Police of New-York City.

SENATOR MILLER ON SUNDAY CLOSING

Ex-Senator Warner Miller apparently expressed the common thought of the rural Republicans when he said to The Tribune correspondent to-night: "In my opinion the delegates to the convention from rural parts of New-York State, and they have a majority in the convention, are inevitably opposed to the Sunday closing plank."

ption of any Sunday option liquor plan. He believes the Republican party would lose a half million and thousand votes in rural New-York. He would say it believes cities should have the right to permit or not to permit, as they please the sale of liquor upon Sunday. This Sunday question is a moral question. As long as we are a Christian people we shall strive to keep Sunday as a sacred day, and not permit the sale of liquor on Sunday.

tance, or abrogate any law of a similar nature. If the people of the whole State through their Legislature shall pass a general law providing that Sunday need not be respected, that work can go on upon that day as well as on any other, that the liquor-stores can be kept open on that day as well as on any other, that evil and good. I will respect the law as enacted by the Legislature, and every honest citizen should respect it. But when the Legislature shall pass a law upon the statute-books forbidding the sale of liquor on Sunday, I will on this question of the Sunday sale of liquor is not a defensive one. We do not need to be on the defensive. At the least upon the defensive. Mr. Hill's favoring the Sunday sale of liquor should be related as a Republican campaign document. The best argument we could give in favor of the Sunday sale of liquor is that it is a Republican issue.
